Completing the cycle.

As the term recycling implies, there is a cycle that has to be completed - something obviously has to happen to that material.

At Plastic Recyclers Australia we produce a range of usable, practical and high quality products suitable for a wide range of applications. These products are of equal or greater quality to traditional alternatives, of similar cost and, in most cases, far more durable.

Many of our products are quite innovative, performing tasks that simply could not be performed using other materials.

How much waste material are we talking about?

Australia uses millions of tonnes of plastic products each year. The vast majority of it ends up becoming landfill.

A relatively small amount is recovered - of which some goes overseas for recycling, with the majority being recycled here in Australia.

PRA turn much of that waste into usable, quality products, significantly reducing landfill and saving natural resources in the process.

In fact PRA and South Australia are leading the nation in waste plastic recycling.

So many benefits...

The advantages of using PRA products are many-fold.

Even if you only used our products for the benefits to our environment, that's a good enough reason to use them.
